

Get into Tech with AWS re/Start

Join our programme to launch
your career in tech

Generation

What's the programme?

AWS re/Start is a free 12 week bootcamp where you'll learn everything you need to become a Cloud Support Practitioner - from the technical skills and coding languages to the key employment skills that will help you excel in the job.

At the end of the programme, Generation will connect you with employers hiring for cloud and devops engineer roles, support you through your application, and help you transition into your working life.

This programme is run in partnership with Amazon Web Services and Prince's Trust.

- ✓ Free 12 week bootcamp teaching tech and soft skills
- ✓ No specific experience or qualifications needed
- ✓ Remote delivery via Zoom
- ✓ Get an Amazon Web Services qualification

What's a Cloud Support Practitioner?

Cloud technology underpins everything we experience online. From Netflix to Facebook, Reddit to the BBC, millions of companies around the world use Amazon Web Services and the Cloud to power their businesses.

As a Cloud Support Practitioner, you'll support businesses to find cloud-based solutions for their challenges. It's a creative role, with a lot of teamwork and problem-solving.

What you'll cover

Through interactive, hands-on sessions, you'll learn the technical skills...

- How cloud computing works
- How to use different computer operating systems
